

WIFE MURDERERS DIE IN THE CHAIR

Chirka and Rasico Pay
Death Penalty.

CHILDREN BID PAPA GOODBYE

Rasico's Crime the Most Brutal in the Annals Of Criminology.

A BROTHER HIS ONLY VISITOR

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 20.—Harry Rasico, of Vincennes, and John Chirka, of Indiana Harbor, both wife-murderers, were executed at the State Prison, Michigan City, shortly after midnight.

Rasico was placed in the electric chair at 12:07 a. m., and was dead eight minutes later. Chirka was placed in the chair at 12:30 a. m. and was pronounced dead eight minutes later.

They were the first men to be electrocuted in Indiana.

The condemned men spent their last hours on earth in receiving members of their families and in advising with the Rev. John Blackman, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Early in the afternoon, Mrs. Gabriel Tode, of Gary, brought the three younger children of Chirka to say farewell to their father. The children are Edith, 12; Mary, 8; and Felix, 5 years old. The children were warmly embraced by their father both on arriving and departing, but he scarcely spoke to them. As they were leaving, baby Felix begged his papa to return home with them, saying: "You not been home with us since mamma died."

At this remark tears ran down the condemned man's cheeks, but he did not speak. The interview lasted but fifteen minutes and then the weeping children were returned to Gary.

Harry Rasico, had but one visitor, his brother, who lives in Vincennes. The brother remained with him but a short time and left. The bodies of the condemned men will not be turned over to their families, but will be buried in the prison cemetery.

John Chirka shot and killed his wife after they had quarreled because of the attentions she was alleged to have bestowed on boarders at their home in Indiana Harbor. His attorneys, confident of his acquittal, on the grounds of insanity, rejected an offer of life imprisonment for Chirka if he would plead guilty. After a trial of four days the jury returned a verdict of guilty and fixed the punishment at death. The result of the trial came as a surprise, not only to the attorneys for the defense, but to the prosecuting attorney, J. H. Patterson, and his deputy, Ralph W. Ross. Farmers made up the jury.

The crime for which Harry Rasico paid the penalty with his life, the murder of his wife and little son, was one of the most brutal ever recorded in the history of the Terre Haute police department, if not in the State. According to his own story, told without restraint and with a sneering bravado, he murdered his wife when she was on her knees in front of him praying and begging for life. Then, turning his smoking revolver upon his little babe, he killed it without remorse. That the crime was deliberately planned, Rasico admitted when arraigned in Circuit Court, declaring that he had been planning the deed for six months, he had become jealous.

He told Judge Fortune he did not regret the deed. He refused counsel and pleaded guilty. In passing sentence, Judge Fortune told the condemned man that his crime deserved the extreme penalty of death. Rasico retorted:

"You ought to give it to me." While in jail awaiting his transfer to the State Prison at Michigan City, Rasico's four little children, in custody of an uncle, visited him. He turned away and refused to talk to them. An insanity commission, appointed by order of Judge Fortune, found him to be rational.

Chirka was first sentenced to die January 9 and Rasico January 16, but Gov. Ralston extended the time to February 20. Much pressure was brought to bear on him for a commutation of sentences to life imprisonment, but he gave decision that the law must take its course.

ENDED LIFE OVER VOW OF EARLY GIRLHOOD

Philadelphia, Penn., Feb. 21.—Miss Letitia Rider, 48 years old, took her life to-day by inhaling illuminating gas after having brooded for months over a girlhood vow never to marry, which she had kept too well.

Getting on in years, she was alone in the world. Since last May she had lived the life of a recluse in her room. She seldom spoke to her neighbors and when she did, she told them of her mistaken notions of life when she was a girl.

When the woman did not answer a neighbor's knock to-day he investigated and found her dead in bed. She had stuffed the cracks of window and door with cloth and turned on the gas.

ORATORICAL CONTEST HELD AT FORDSVILLE

Was a Success—An Elizabethtown Boy Carried Off
The Prize.

Fordsville, Ky., Feb. 23, 1914. The Fourth Congressional Oratorical Association held its annual contest at Fordsville last Friday evening at eight o'clock. The following schools were represented: Fordsville, Elizabethtown, Hardinsburg, Leitchfield and Brandenburg. The program was as follows:

J. W. Frymire, Brandenburg, subject, "The Stars and Stripes." Joy Rogers, Leitchfield, subject, "A Shadow of the Past and Present." Earl Thomas, Hardinsburg, subject, "The Triumvirate of Life." Leman Whitler, Fordsville, subject, "My Hero in War." Warren Keith, Elizabethtown, subject, "The Ages Call, the Heroes Come."

Judges: Miller Holland, Owensboro, Ky.; Prof. O. E. Beard, Whitesville, Ky.; Prof. Kirk, Central City, Ky. Chairman, Roy Foreman.

The speakers all did well, but the judges decided that the winner of the contest was Mr. Warren Keith, of Elizabethtown. Each school should be proud of its representative.

The Fordsville Orchestra was on hand with the very best of music. We want to take this occasion to thank our local Orchestra for the splendid assistance which it has rendered our school on numerous occasions.

There are several other High Schools in the Fourth Congressional District that should be members of this Association. Such contests as these not only train young men in the art of oratory and debate but also bring the High Schools in closer contact with each other.

Hardinsburg brought about fifty school boys and girls, while each of the other schools were well represented, thus bringing together a large number of boys and girls from the different High Schools.

CHARGED WITH LEADING YOUNG GIRLS INTO VICE

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 22.—Mayor Benjamin Bosse to-day started a crusade against private vice in Evansville. He says with the aid of Chief of Police Edgar Schmidt, he has secured positive evidence showing that three well known professional men here have been luring young girls to their offices. The Mayor says these three men have been warned to leave the city this week and not to return again during his administration. He says the men will be arrested unless they leave. Their names have not been made public.

Will Buy Bloodhounds.

Henderson, Ky., Feb. 23.—Bloodhounds will be bought by Henderson county and used for trailing alleged criminals. There have been so many robberies, holdups and incendiary fires in Henderson county the last year that the Fiscal Court, urged by the Sheriff, has decided to try bloodhounds as a means of checking crime.

It is easy for a good man to make a bad break.

A NEW REPUBLIC IS BEING FORMED

Northern Mexico To Secede, 'Tis Said.

STATES ALONG U. S. BORDER

Far Ahead of South in Progress—Population Is Not Similar.

THE NORTH IS INDEPENDENT

Chihuahua, Mex., Feb. 22.—A plan for the formation in Northern Mexico of a new republic is now being perfected, according to persistent rumors which were in circulation here to-day.

Certain rebel leaders intimate that the delay of the Constitutionalist attack on Torreon is due to the scheme for the divorce of Southern Mexico. While Gen. Carranza, civil head of the revolution, and Gen. Villa, the military leader, disclaim any part in a plan which does not include the overthrow of Huerta, it is believed by many here that the proposition for an independent republic is being seriously considered by them and others.

Reports emanating from Mexico City that the Federal garrison at Torreon has been strengthened to a point where it can make a formidable resistance, have added impetus to the idea of a separation of the North from the South, and Gen. Carranza's coming to Chihuahua from the Pacific Coast is looked on as possibly indicating an early adoption of the plan.

Many rebel leaders profess to believe that whatever the outcome of the present revolution the North and South will not soon be completely amalgamated. The North, they assert, already is politically independent and has adopted a progressive attitude wholly at variance to conditions in the South, where two factions—the indifferent and the adherents of the old Diaz regime—predominate.

The territory which, it is said, might be formed into a separate republic embraces the five States along the United States border—Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas, with possibly the inclusion of Sinaloa. The Huerta army has been driven out of practically all of this territory, the chief remaining strongholds of the Federals being at Tampico on the East; Monterey, Saitillo and Torreon on the South; Guaymas on the West, and Nuevo Laredo and Piedras Negras on the North.

Asserting that revolutionary leaders may have to content themselves with their victories in the North, officials high in the rebel government point out that one reason for the overthrow of President Madero was that he represented the ideals of the North at the seat of the government in the South, where progress has not kept pace with the Northern States.

GOVERNMENT READY TO MANUFACTURE RADIUM

Washington, Feb. 21.—The Federal Government is ready to go ahead manufacturing radium, Director Holmes, of the Mines Bureau, to-day told the Senate Committee considering the Walsh bill to empower the Government to do so. The only problem, he said, was an adequate supply of ore.

Dr. Holmes estimated the Government could produce radium at less than half the present price and at the same time confer a benefit on the mining industry by encouraging operations. The Government, he said, would not keep its process secret.

CITY'S STEAM ROLLER CAUSE OF $30,000 SUIT

Cynthiana, Ky., Feb. 21.—The regular term of the Harrison Circuit Court will begin on Monday. There are fifty-six cases on the docket, the principal one being the suit of Riley Hill and wife vs. the City of Cynthiana for damages amounting to $30,000. The suit grows out of alleged injuries received by Mrs. Hill and her little son last May when their horse became frightened at a steam roller which was being used on the streets of this city.

THREE SLAIN BY TRAIN ROBBERS

Passengers Held Up On Great Northern.

TERRIFIC GRAPPLE IN COACH

Between Passengers and Outlaw—His Accomplice
Shoots Out Lights.

SLAYER GATHERS THE PURSES

Bellingham, Wash., Feb. 20.—Three passengers on a Northern Pacific train bound for Vancouver, B. C., who resisted three bandits to-night, were shot dead.

Thomas B. Wadsworth, a Canadian Pacific conductor, of Vancouver, B. C.; R. L. Lee, of Bremerton, Wash., and H. R. Aderson, a traveling salesman, of Vancouver, B. C., were the men killed.

The bandits boarded the train at Burlington, a few miles south of the place where they attacked the passengers in the day coaches.

The robbers rode in the smoking car until they were ready to act. They then went into the vestibule between the smoking car and the day coach, tied handkerchiefs about their faces and entered the day coach with drawn revolvers.

Most of the passengers confronted by the bandits threw up their hands, but three men attempted to resist. They were killed instantly.

Two of the men had gone on through the day coach. One stood at the rear door, while a second stepped into the vestibule.

As the three men killed grappled with one bandit, the robber at the end of the car began shooting into the ceiling and put out the lights.

The robber, grappling with the three men, quickly fired ten shots. Lee was not killed by the first shot and tried to crawl behind the rear seat. The bandit kept firing, and five or six shots entered his back. None of the shots fired by the other bandit hit any one, but he terrorized the passengers. A half dozen women fainted.

The robber who killed the men turned back to the front of the coach. As he passed along several women held their purses out in the aisles. He gathered up several and ran. The bandits left the train together as it came to a stop from a signal given by the conductor who had heard the shooting from another coach.

Poses were hurriedly formed and a special train was sent to the scene, but on account of the wilderness of surrounding country little hope is held out for the capture of the outlaws.

It is thought they may have taken a boat and gone to the San Juan Islands, as the holdup took place on the edge of Bellingham Bay.

DAMAGES FOR POLLUTING THE WATERS OF A CREEK

Henderson, Ky., Feb. 21.—The jury in the case of twenty farmers for $40,100 damages against the Kentucky Peerless Distilling company, Henry Kraver, president, and the city of Henderson, returned a verdict Thursday morning in favor of all the plaintiffs except Claude Gudgeon, for $7,099.86.

The suit was for damages alleged to be due for the polluting of the waters of Canoe creek, running near where the farmers live.

"HOLINESS" PEOPLE ARE UNDER SERIOUS CHARGES

Newton, Ill., Feb. 21.—Five more persons were found guilty in connection with the whipping of two boys at the Holiness chapel near here. Harold Cummins, Allen Lyons, and Anna Emory were fined $65 and Frank Emory and Rosa Peck were fined $85. Lyons testified that he and other members of the sect were beaten when they became sanctified.

P. D. Lyons, leader of the Holiness sect; Cameron and Frank Cummins and Mrs. Vantrees, who have been convicted of being ring-leaders in the beating, to-day were held under $4,000 bonds to appear in the Circuit Court to answer a charge of assault to commit murder. They are being kept in jail guarded by special deputy sheriffs to prevent mob violence.

The Holiness chapel, situated in the country southwest of town, was destroyed by fire last night. It is suspected some person, angered by disclosures made at the recent trials, used a torch on it.

FARMER CONVICTED OF SLAYING WIFE AND CHILD

Gadsden, Ala., Feb. 21.—William Wilson, aged 35, a farmer, was found guilty by a jury in Circuit Court at Oneonta, Blount county, of the murder of his wife and 6-year-old child.

It is alleged Wilson killed his wife and child, dragged their bodies to the bank of the Warrior river and hid them among the rocks and later set fire to the brush. Months later the charred skeletons were discovered and suspicion pointed to Wilson. The evidence was largely circumstantial, but more than 100 witnesses testified. An appeal probably will be taken.

Wilson's second wife was with him at the trial and has been loyal to him in the face of conviction.

BIG CHANGES IN THE PRISON PAROLE LAW

Approval of Governor Necessary
Before The Parole Is Granted.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 20.—Radical changes in the prison parole law are provided for in the Helm bill that passed the Senate late this afternoon by the vote of 20 to 1. The dissenting vote was cast by Senator C. F. Montgomery, of Casey county, author of a rival measure that had just been defeated. Provided the Helm bill becomes a law, the approval of the Governor will be necessary before a parole can be issued. His consent also will have to be secured before a parole violator may be returned to the penitentiary.

The Senate also passed the Helm bill, amending the indeterminate sentence law, which recently was held to be defective by the Court of Appeals on the ground that it conferred judicial power on the Prison Commissioners, whose functions are purely administrative.

An emergency clause is contained in the Helm Parole Bill. Besides providing for an additional employment agent at $1,200 a year, it creates the office of secretary to the Prison Commission at a salary $1,800 a year. It increases from five to eight years the period a person sentenced to prison for life must serve before he may become eligible for parole.

The essential difference between the Helm bill and the Montgomery measure, that was offered as a substitute and voted down, was that the latter provided that any prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence should be automatically entitled to a parole when he had served his minimum term and had for nine months previous observed all the rules and regulations of the prison.

Considerable interest was manifested in the Prison Parole Bill and the indeterminate measure for the reason that Lieut. Gov. McDermott drafted the Helm bills covering the subjects and Attorney General Garrett drew the Montgomery bills, both of which were defeated.

CROSSES SEA TO WED; FIANCE DRUNK; ALL OFF

Greensburg, Pa., Feb. 21.—To marry a childhood sweetheart, Katharine Hanlitz traveled all the way from Germany and arrived in Wilpen, this county, yesterday, bringing with her a dowry of $3,000.

When she left the train at Wilpen her fiancé was there to meet her, but he had started to celebrate the wedding too soon and had with him a glorious "souse."

That was something the young German maiden had not included in her calculations for the future. She decided to keep her little fortune to herself, rather than take a chance with a drunken husband, and took the next train back to New York, intimating that she would return to her native land after looking over the sights of the metropolis a bit.

VILLA'S STORY NOT CREDITED

Washington, Feb. 21.—Secretary Bryan has ordered a far-reaching investigation of the killing of William S. Benton, a British subject, at Juarez, Mexico. It was announced to-day that until all the facts were gathered from all sources, and transmitted to Great Britain, the State Department would not express an opinion.

Explanations by Villa to Thomas D. Edwards, George C. Carothers, and American consular representatives at Juarez, together with the court martial record, will be supplemented by further information.

The State Department advises late to-day, giving Villa's version were, that Benton was armed, and personally quarreled with Villa, who was disarmed. He was tried by court martial and hung for attempting Villa's life. Feeling is more apprehensive among the diplomats for the safety of the foreign population. Attacks on the President's watchful waiting policy are growing stronger. It is feared that the lid clamped on the Senate over Mexico will blow off, and that the question will be discussed on the floor.

Robert V. Pesquiera, Constitutionalist agent here, made public the following telegram from Constitutionalist headquarters at Juarez: "Benton entered Villa's apartment very unexpectedly, demanding protection for his interests, and bitterly insulting Villa and the Constitutionalist army. Gen. Villa told him that he considered him an enemy to the Constitutionalist cause, and that in order that he might not continue to work against it, he (Villa) was going to pay him the value of his (Benton's) property in the State of Chihuahua."

"Benton became very exasperated at this and drew his revolver, intending to kill the General, but the latter immediately knocked him down, disarmed him and sent him to jail. Benton was afterward tried by a special military tribunal, sentenced to death and duly executed, in accordance with the laws and usages of war."

A telegram from R. N. Dudley, of El Paso, Texas, to Senator Fall, declaring Benton "was murdered like a dog," was read in the Senate to-day at the request of Senator Fall. He also had read a telegram from the El Paso mass meeting.

"I am almost certain Villa did it in person," said the telegram from Dudley. "No evidence that Benton was the aggressor," added the Dudley telegram. "Everything shows it cold-blooded murder. Castillo, a guest of our Government with safety from punishment; Villa boats of his crime. Is there no protection anywhere? El Paso full of rebel officers. The business affairs of the rebellion openly done here. Watchful waiting a failure."

CASH SUFFICIENT TO KEEP HUERTA IN POWER

New York, Feb. 21.—Adolfo de la Lama, Mexican Minister of Finance, arrived here to-day on the steamship Kronprinzessin Cecelie on his way to Mexico City from Europe, where he obtained funds to meet interest payments due on Government bonds in January and April.

He said he was returning to assist the Huerta Administration. He will not visit Washington.

President Huerta is the only man, the Minister said, who could restore peace in Mexico. His ultimate triumph, he added, was certain. He declined to comment in any way on this country's policy toward Mexico.

He said that, in his opinion, the funds obtained abroad—more than $30,000,000—would be sufficient to continue Huerta in power indefinitely.

NO MAIL IS HELD UP BY TUMULTY

Roman Catholic Secretary Of President

IS GIVEN PRAISE IN LETTER

To Protesting Editor—Religious Prejudice Charge Is Scouted.

WILSON DEFENDS SECRETARY

Washington, Feb. 26.—In a letter to W. W. Prescott, editor of the Protestant Magazine, published here, President Wilson has denied emphatically that his correspondence is handled with religious prejudice by his secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty. The correspondence made public today by the magazine follows:

"The President, Washington, D. C., Jan. 15, 1914.

"Sir: I learn from personal interviews and correspondence that there is a widespread feeling among Protestants that it is practically impossible for any communication relating to the activities of the Roman Catholic Church to reach you personally, for the reason that all such letters are withheld from you by your private secretary, Mr. Tumulty. It is unfortunate, both for you and for the country, that such an impression prevails, and that it seems to have some foundation.

Before dealing with this subject in this magazine, I am writing to ask for a statement from you which might be of service in restoring confidence among some of the best citizens of this Republic. Any reply, however brief, showing that this letter actually reached you, would be a source of satisfaction.

"When you were Governor of New Jersey, I wrote you concerning some criticisms of your course in which you were charged with showing favoritism to the Roman Catholic Church, and your reply placed the matter in such a light that I did not deem it necessary to make any reference to the subject. My desire is to deal fairly with public men, and hence this letter.

"Thanking you for any attention which you may give to my request, I am,

Yours very truly,

"W. W. PRESCOTT."

The President's reply under date of January 18, 1914, follows:

My Dear Sir: Allow me to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of January 15 and to thank you for your candor in writing me.

"I beg leave to assure you that the impression that any part of my correspondence is withheld from me in any circumstances by my secretary on account of religious predilections on his part, is absurdly and utterly false. I venture to say that no President ever had more frank and satisfactory relations with his secretary than I have with mine. The whole of my correspondence is constantly open to me. Mr. Tumulty is more prompt, perhaps, to call my attention to matters in which his prejudice is supposed to be engaged than to other matters of relative indifference.

"Of course, I need hardly add I am not speaking from an impression, but from knowledge of just how my correspondence is handled.

"Sincerely yours,

"WOODROW WILSON."

The March Woman's Home Companion.

The March Woman's Home Companion contains a review of the work already done by that publication in the great campaign for Better Babies, which it has been carrying on for a year and which its Better Babies Bureau under the direction of Anna Steese Richardson is to carry on during the coming year. One hundred thousand babies have already been examined at contests and hundreds of thousands of mothers have been helped by scientific suggestions as to how to take care of their children. The Companion has put the movement on a sound basis and attracted to its support the most influential body of medical men in the country—the American Medical Association. It has standardized the Better Babies movement by providing free of charge, the most thoroughly scientific score-cards, wall charts, books of detailed instruction, and all other needful literature that could be devised by experts, and insisting that these be used in all contests. In other words, the Better Babies Bureau has accomplished in a year what a generation of scattered endeavor could not have brought about. And the movement is still young!

13 MISTAKES IN LIFE.

Here are what Presiding Judge Paul J. McCormick has announced as "Thirteen Mistakes of Life:"

"To attempt to set up your own standard of right and wrong.

"To try to measure the enjoyment of others by your own.

"To expect uniformity of opinions in this world.

"To fail to make allowance for inexperience.

"To endeavor to mold all dispositions alike.

"Not to yield in unimportant trifles.

"To look for protection in our own actions.

"To worry ourselves and others about what cannot be remedied.

"Not to help everybody, wherever, however and whenever we can.

"To consider anything impossible that we cannot ourselves perform.

"To believe only what our finite minds can grasp.

"Not to make allowances for the weaknesses of others.

"To estimate by some outside quality, when it is that within which makes the man."—[San Francisco Cor. Washington Post.

LITTLE GERMAN BAND PROVIDES ONLY MUSIC

New York, Feb. 18.—The music of a little German band, somewhat out of tune and time, formed the opening incident of the funeral here of Zoe Anderson Norris, a widely known writer and social worker of the East Side, who died last Friday after predicting her early death and publishing her own obituary in a little magazine she edited.

It was one of the last wishes of Mrs. Norris that the German band she used to hear in the court yard beneath her flat should furnish the music at her funeral. Yesterday its wheezy notes intermingled with the sobs of the women who paid Mrs. Norris a last tribute of friendship.

Mrs. Fletcher Chelf, of Harrodsburg, Ky., daughter of Mrs. Norris, and her son, Robert Norris, passenger agent for the Missouri Pacific railroad at Kansas City, occupied seats near the front of the hall on one side of the flower-covered coffin.

Most of those present were members of the Ragged Edge Club, which was founded by Mrs. Norris. The body will be sent to Harrodsburg, Ky., where it will be buried in the family plot.

FUND FOR PURPOSE OF PACIFYING THE PULPIT

Mr. Carnegie's latest benefaction is an appropriation of $2,000,000, in trust, the income from which is to be used for the instruction of the clergymen in the United States in the ways of peace.

Was there ever a more cruel satire or more brutal sarcasm than the grateful acceptance of this donation by various ministers of the gospel of the Prince of Peace?

In times of great popular agitation, especially when moral or humanitarian issues are involved, the pulpit is likely to be belligerent. Wars do not spring from the spirit of conquest or from commercial greed alone. Very few of them have lacked the sanction, even the incitement of the clergy, as in Ulster.

Mr. Carnegie's devotion to peace is greatly to his credit, but is there not a little craft, not to say guile, in this spectacular attempt by a man, himself an unbeliever, to pacify the pulpit?—[New York World.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets

are, we honestly believe, the best remedy made for Indigestion, Dyspepsia and all other Stomach Ills

We Know They're Good

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, in addition to other ingredients, contain Pepsin and Bismuth, two great digestive aids used by the entire medical profession. They soothe the inflamed stomach, check the heartburn and distress, stimulate a healthy secretion of the gastric juice, aid in rapid and comfortable digestion of the food and help to quickly convert it into rich red blood, and thereby into flesh, bone and muscle. They relieve stomach distress promptly, and, used regularly for a short time, tend to restore the stomach to a comfortable, easy-acting, healthy state. They aid greatly to promote regular bowel action.

Delays Are Dangerous

Don't neglect indigestion, for it frequently leads to all sorts of ills and complications. The pain and discomfort is not the most unfortunate part. The fact that when the stomach is not acting right, the material needed to repair the wastes that are constantly taking place in the body is not being given to the blood either in the proper condition or fast enough is far more serious. Nothing will cause more trouble than an unhealthy stomach. The blues, debility, lack of strength and energy, constipation, biliousness, headaches and scores of other serious ailments result from the failure of the stomach to properly do its work.

You Risk No Money

Our willingness to have you use Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets entirely at our risk proves our faith in them. We always sell them this way, and it is because we know that they have greatly benefited scores of sufferers to whom we have sold them. There's no red tape about our guarantee. BRINGS BACK SCENES OF HARTFORD LONG AGO

Happy Days Long Passed Are Revived By a Former Citizen.

The following appeared in last week's issue of the Farmers' Home Journal, addressed to its editor, Col. Ion B. Nall:

Editor Farmers' Home Journal:

A little delay in sending New Year's greeting, but desire to do so prompts me. Happy recollections of former days with the venerable editor, when we were mere kids at Hartford, tripping the "light fantastic" with such genial companions as Z. Wayne Griffin, Eugene Nall, Charlie Ellis, Estill McHenry, the Peyton boys, the Williams boys, our host, Bill Foreman, A. L. Morton, Miss Lou Shanks, Miss Sallie Peyton, Miss Laura Baird, Miss Sue Berry, and many others whose names I cannot recall. Fond recollections go back to those days, and we think of the words of the poet who said:

Turn back, turn back, Oh time, in your flight,
And make me a boy again, just for one night.

I am sure the editor recalls these happy days just as I do, for at our ages we live largely in the past, though not all forgetting our duty to the present.

The editor certainly made no mistake when he associated himself with the "Farmers' Home Journal" in 1875. He might have entered a field that would have produced larger financial results, but I doubt if he could have chosen one in which he would have received more real pleasure, and at the same time been worth so much to the agricultural interests of the State. There is no question but that the "Farmers' Home Journal" has been a power in the State in building up the great stock and agricultural interests. It has always been edited on a high plane, and has been appreciated by the best farmers, especially the stock growers.

It has been a medium of information and exchange unequalled by any other publication of the South.

I have been reading it for nearly a half century without intermission, and having read scores of others, I know whereof I speak. May Bro. Nall be spared through this year, and many others, to cheer the lives of an appreciative public through the medium of the Farmers' Home Journal.

SEVERE BRONCHIAL COUGH

Doctors Feared Lung Trouble, Restored to Health by Vinol.

The medical profession does not believe that lung troubles are inherited, but a person may inherit a weakness or tendency to them.

Mrs. Kate Heckman, Springfield, Ohio, says: "A few years ago I was in a very bad run-down condition, and the physician told me I had consumption. I tried another physician, and he told me I had ulcers on my right lung. I quit the physicians and started on 'Vinol.' Today I am perfectly healthy, and that is why I recommend 'Vinol.'"

Vinol soothes and heals the inflamed surfaces and allays the cough. Vinol creates an appetite, strengthens the digestive organs and gives the patient strength to throw off incipient pulmonary diseases.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

FAIR PLAY FOR THE RAILROADS

Is Plea Of Manager Of Long Experience.

HE CITES APT ILLUSTRATIONS

A Calm and Considerate Discussion of the Railway Problem.

TAKES A FAIR VIEW OF MATTER

The name of Howard Elliott is just now on the lips of many people. For thirty-odd years his railway experience was west of the Mississippi. Recently he became President and is now Chairman of the Board of the New York, New Haven, and Hartford Railroad Company, at present the most talked about of companies.

But Mr. Elliott is more than this. He is also an instructor in railway economics, as any one may see who takes up his just-published volume. It comprises eight addresses which have been valued by Mr. Elliott's friends. Taken together, the addresses make a book useful to any one who would learn about the latter-day transportation situation in the United States as it affects the farmer, the banker, the passenger, the shipper, the railway employee, the public in general.

Of course Mr. Elliott presents the railway side of the transportation problem, and of course, as an honest trustee of other people's property, he wants to see increased railway earnings. Mr. Elliott, on the other hand, wants to see rates raised; but in dwelling upon this Mr. Elliott also has broad considerations in mind, namely, that the country cannot attain its best growth unless the people can be made to see the necessity of adequate and safe transportation, together with the impossibility of obtaining it unless enough money is earned to pay approximately the same return to the investor as is received by investors in other classes of business in the same territory.

To this end Mr. Elliott would encourage friendly relations and friendly discussion with the public rather than have constant friction. As he says, through lack of complete information about railways there has arisen some antagonism toward them. On the one hand, there is a critical public; on the other, there are railways "struggling with forces which are causing rates to remain stationary or to decline, causing wages to rise or to remain stationary, bringing demands from a prosperous people for increasingly expensive facilities and service, and causing taxation to rise at an alarming rate." These four forces, as Mr. Elliott acutely points out, are all at work reducing the margin between income and outgo. Of course they make it more and more difficult for the owners of railway properties to keep their lines in suitable condition and to obtain a proper return. Mr. Elliott admits that railway officers have been less active than they should have been in keeping in touch with the public. He declares that railway owners, officers, and employees should realize that it is necessary to maintain cordial relations with the public and to give full information about the railway business. There is plenty of information ready to hand; indeed, "no form of business in the United States is conducted so openly, and in none are the facts and figures so available."

Consumption Takes 350 People Every Day in the United States and the surprising truth is that most cases are preventable with timely, intelligent treatment.

These appalling facts should warn us that after sickness, colds, overwork or any other drains upon strength, Scott's Emulsion should be promptly and regularly used because tubercular germs thrive only in a weakened system.

The tested and proven value of Scott's Emulsion is recognized by the greatest specialists because its medical nourishment assimilates quickly to build healthy tissue; aids in the development of active, life-sustaining blood corpuscles; strengthens the lungs and builds physical force without reaction. Scott's Emulsion is used in tuberculosis camps because of its rare body-building, blood-making properties and because it contains no alcohol or habit-forming drug. Be sure to insist on Scott's.

Scott & Downe, Bloomfield, N. J. 13-76

Like all other railway presidents, Mr. Elliott calls attention to the fact that on all important questions but one, the railway owner is directed by acts of Congress and by State Legislatures, and by the orders of commissions and bureaus. The one question in which he has full say is that of finding the money to pay the bills. In order to make clear what this interference with the details of management really means, Mr. Elliott gives the following illustration:

"Suppose, for example, that men are engaged in the business of hauling freight of all kinds from the water-front to the various parts of a city. The owners and chief managers are doing the best they can to deliver coal, merchandise, and other freight promptly and cheaply, though every pound must be hauled with difficulty over slippery streets and up heavy grades. Suddenly, however, a large number of men appear and begin to tell the owners and managers how to run their business. None of these men have any financial interest in the business of transporting merchandise by wagon, and few of them have any practical knowledge of it.

"One says, 'I have been looking at your wagons, and the beds are not the right height from the ground, and you must change them. I notice also that the steps are put on wrong and the buckles of your harnesses are not of the right character. You must fix these things.'

"Another man says, 'The lanterns your teamsters carry are not suitable. You must buy a much more expensive kind and see that they are carried whether they are needed or not.'

"Another says, 'You must not use a certain lead horse any more, because he is not suited to the business.'

"Another says, 'I noticed that you were carrying a calf on one of your wagons. In such cases you must get your wagon from the water-front to destination within an hour, and it must be moved at a speed of not less than ten miles per hour.'

"Another says, 'In our part of the city your wagons must not move faster than four miles an hour, and you must stop them at every street crossing.'

"Another says, 'The city authorities have decided that you must reduce all your charges twenty-five per cent.'

"And still another says, 'I represent a committee that has decided that your sheds and barns are not of the right type, and you must tear them down and build new ones.'

"Meanwhile some of the stablemen and others have come to the managers and owners saying that they have decided not to do any more work unless their pay is increased twenty-five per cent.

"Naturally the owners and their managers are somewhat confused and discouraged."

It is a grave question, claims Mr. Elliott, whether the railways can continue to meet the demands of the people and be the efficient instruments that they should be if, while they are owned by private individuals, in all important matters of management except finance, they are practically directed by Governmental authority. He adds:

"I do not wish to be understood as meaning that there should not be supervision and regulation of the great public service corporations. I do, however, want to make a plea that, coupled with restraint and control, there should be protection to the owners of the securities. The commissions, both State and National, naturally feel the great pleasure of the millions of users of the railroads for reduced rates and increased facilities. . . . I believe that the commissioners, who have such great powers, realize their responsibility to the owners of the properties as well as to the users."

Do they? With Mr. Elliott, we too think they do. At any rate, the fine thing about this book and the fine thing about Mr. Elliott's railway management everywhere, is the spirit which he has put into both. It is an eminently co-operative attitude and spirit, as was recently specially shown in the settlement of the labor troubles on the New Haven road, and as is being shown in Mr. Elliott's earnest endeavor to rehabilitate that great system. EDISON, NOW 67, IS LIKE A BOY

Is Now Feeling Better Than Ever Before.

GREATEST WORK YET TO COME

The Great Inventor Says He Is Just in the Stage Of Learning.

WILL GO FOR A REST SOON

The New York World says: Maybe Thomas A. Edison could have invented a successful way to dodge celebrating his sixty-seventh birthday with his family at his home in Llewellyn Park, N. J., last night, but he didn't.

He couldn't even get to his laboratory as early as usual. It was not till 9 o'clock yesterday morning that he evaded his watchful family, slipped out of the kitchen door and hustled to work.

Nor had he been there long—for him—when Mrs. Edison and her son Charles went after him in an automobile and brought him back home. Not, however, till he had had a chance to say to newspaper reporters in answer to a question founded on the Osler man-is-all-in-at-forty theory:

"I am better fit mentally and physically for my work to-day than ever before. I expect to do my greatest work in the years to come. I am just in the stage of learning, and my accomplishments will come later. Gladstone, Bismarck and other notables of history became famous because of work done after they had passed sixty."

"I am sixty-seven years old to-day and I feel like a boy. My health is good and my mind is keen and my appetite for work and accomplishment is keener. I expect a long term of years in my laboratory yet, working out problems of science that I hope may help humanity in its struggles to exist peacefully, happily and quietly, with as little expenditure of energy as possible."

Mr. Edison was busy in the phonograph laboratory on the third floor when he received reporters. He could have been in his library reading several hundreds of telegrams, cablegrams and other messages of congratulation and good will that had arrived from all parts of the world. Mr. Edison stopped work long enough to answer a volley of questions.

First, he said that the greatest achievement for humanity during the past year was the discovery that ammonia can be obtained economically by passing hydrogen and nitrogen gas over hot iron. This insures the world an inexhaustible supply of fertilizer at slight cost.

"The Currency bill is the most noteworthy accomplishment in the United States," the inventor said. "President Wilson deserves a lot of credit. He has taken a step in the right direction. We don't want everything controlled by a few in this country."

He praised the President again when asked about the Mexican policy, saying:

"I'm a patriotic American, I believe, but some of this patriotism is false pride. I think we could stand a little humiliation and save the expense of going to war. We don't want it, and President Wilson has shown himself a diplomat by avoiding it by every possible means."

Unlike John D. Rockefeller, Mr. Edison refused to tell young men how they may become successful. Instead of saying, "Save your pennies," or something like that, he said:

"The advice that will do the most good begins at the mother's knee, when the young man is a child. I still remember the advice and training given me by my good mother. It recurs to me constantly and I apply it almost every day."

"My greatest work this year was the perfection of the diamond disc phonograph," Mr. Edison said: For the rest, Mr. Edison was looking plumper, more rested and more cheerful than at any time since his recent illness. When he sneaked out the kitchen door in the morning he wore an ancient overcoat, his usual gray fedora and a pair of low shoes. A pink carnation had been pinned in his lapel by Miss Madeleine Edison.

When he got to his laboratory each window was decorated with the numeral "67."

He wanted to get back there last night, too. But he settled back and enjoyed himself when fourteen-year-old Theodore Edison started to play the new phonograph.

The inventor will leave, he said, on Feb. 21, for his winter home in Fort Meyer, Pa. He will go into the Everglades with Henry Ford and John Burroughs, where he said:

"We will get away from fictitious civilization, and expect to be happy and learn much."

NEGRO THOUGHT DEAD WAS ALSO SCARED SOME

Elwood City, Penn., Feb. 20.—With a yell of terror Ed Williams, a supposedly dead negro being prepared for burial, jumped from the slab in a local undertaker's morgue and fled the other day.

Williams had been found, apparently dead, in a road near here. He was taken to undertaking rooms and everything was made ready for embalming.

To the amazement of the undertaker the corpse stretched out its arms. With a yawn it opened its eyes and looked around.

One hand rested on something clammy. The corpse looked around and saw its hand on a real corpse.

One second later Williams was running down the street at full speed.

One of the bosses at Baldwin's Locomotive Works had to lay off an argumentative Irishman named Pat, so he saved discussion by putting the discharge in writing. The next day Pat was missing, but a week later the boss was passing through the shop and he saw him again at his lathe. Going up to the Irishman, he demanded fiercely:

"Didn't you get my letter?"

"Yes, sur, Oi did," said Pat.

"Did you read it?"

"Sure, sur, Oi read it inside and Oi read it outside," said Pat, "and on the inside yez said I was fired, and on the outside yez said, 'Return to Baldwin's Locomotive Works in five days.'"

LOCAL WOMEN AGREE WITH STAGE BEAUTIES

Of all women in the world, probably those on the stage are most particular about their personal appearance, and especially in the care of the hair; and when such leading stage beauties as Ethel Barrymore, Elsie Ferguson, Natalie Alt, Louise Dresser, Rose Coghlan, Laurette Taylor and many others are so enthusiastic about Harmony Hair Beautifier as to write in praise of it, that is certainly evidence that it does just what they say it does—that is, beautifies the hair. There are many women right in this town, and men, too, who regard it as indispensable, because it makes the hair glossier and more silky, easier to dress and make stay in place. Sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change color of hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us.—James H. Williams, 214 Main St. Hartford, Ky. Entered at the Hartford post-office as mail matter of the second class.

Anyhow, Col. Harry Sommers, the loyal temperance editor of the Elizabethtown News, can recall one time in his life when he had too much water.

Girls' canning clubs are being formed around over the country—that is, to can fruit and vegetables. Clubs for canning the boys have not yet started in a general way.

Every young man should know that there are a few habits—now very common—which will disqualify him for any good job or profession he may contemplate. Among these are tipping, cigarette smoking, swearing and loafing. Any ambitious boy addicted to either of these habits would do well to take an inventory of himself.

Republican leaders of Kentucky are again trying to get the Mooers back in line. Quite a bunch of them gathered at Frankfort last week and passed a resolution calling for a "harmony meeting" to be held in Louisville immediately after the adjournment of the Legislature. Strenuous efforts will be made to put the Moose and Elephant in a cohesive party attitude.

That is a commendable project which County Judge John B. Wilson has in hand of organizing the boys and girls of Ohio county into Corn and Canning Clubs. It is a laudable ambition for any boy or girl to excel in any line of work. It not only places them in line for honorable recognition, but equips them for better and wider work later on in life. See Judge Wilson's little reading notice in another column, headed "Corn and Tomato Clubs."

One of the greatest drawbacks where inadequacy of wages prevails in congested centers is a lack of education among employees. Boys now-a-days fall out of school either from inertia or lack of ambition to study, and idling for a few years, later on are disappointed or disgruntled because they cannot obtain the wages which some of their erstwhile companions, better educated, enjoy. It should be the prime object of every boy and girl to get a common school education at least. It pays.

The spirit in favor of good roads has been greatly revived in Ohio county lately. And the best thing about this revival is that it has taken a real shape in the way of personal interest and aid. This is the only way we will ever get out of the rut of bad roads. It will take personal sacrifice and personal aid to get and keep Ohio county's roads in good repair. Too long the matter was allowed to drag, but now that many seem interested in the project, it should never again be allowed to lag.

After all that has been said on the subject of training children—especially boys—perhaps Thos. A. Edison gave the best explanation in few words when he said: "The advice that will do the most good begins at the mother's knee." Very logically and truly said. But nowadays the mother is sometimes to blame when she allows the boy—at age of between twelve and twenty—to get away from her in disobedience and devilment. Lack of proper family discipline is often apparent. Too frequently the mother's heart is crushed and the boy's heart is hardened by the lax line thrown over him at home.

The Owensboro Messenger, in discussing with the Hopkinsville New Era the value of potash in raising tobacco, in which matter the two papers are at variance, says:

"Poor Joe Mulhatton is dead, but it is probable that his weak imitator over at Rockport, Ky., has gone to Christian county."

We do not know anything about the tobacco matter, but we object to the Messenger calling our home product a "weak imitator" of the illustrious Joe Mulhatton. We are for our home folks every time, and we do not like to hear of them being subjected to any disparaging remarks. The Rockport fellow is considered a very apt pupil.

"Go-to-church" Sunday is one of the greatest events ever thought of in connection with christian work. Originating with the Christian Endeavor people of Chicago and taking its initial date as the first Sunday in February, it has spread its influence broadcast and suggests any Sunday in the year to be generally observed. Invitations are especially sent to those who are not in the habit of regular church attendance and they are treated with special consideration. Already "Go-to-church" Sunday has been the cause of thousands of strange faces appearing in churches, and it is destined to become one of the greatest days of the year for the cause of Christ.

STARTLING DISCOVERIES OF PREHISTORIC BONES

Los Angeles, Feb. 21.—A discovery, designed to thrill the scientific world and to appeal profoundly to the imaginations of mankind, has just been made in one of the world famous asphalt pits of the La Brea ranch, near Los Angeles.

In this hole, from which the bones of saber-toothed tigers, mastodons and giant sloths have been taken, the skeleton of a man, full-grown, but only three feet in height, has been found. The skeleton was found against a mammoth bear of the pleistocene period and 20 feet of earth crust, and 200,000 years had accumulated over this contemporary of the two-toed horse. The bones were near the trunk of a tree of that remote period, which, scientists declare, stands now as it grew then.

Almost as near to this prehistoric man as were the bones of the bear was imbedded the complete skeleton of a wolf as big as a present-day elephant.

To the layman this may seem to be a pretty fine shading after 200,000 years have passed, but this plot of ground in the ranch is a little magic land; the bones are as well preserved in the asphaltum after this lapse of aeons as others which have been ordinarily buried for a year.

COUNTIES OF STATE NOT SELF-SUPPORTING

There are 120 counties in the State, eighty of which are pauper counties.

In the First Congressional District there are thirteen counties, eleven of which are pauper counties.

A pauper county is one in which expenses exceed the net revenues. Hickman is a net revenue-paying county by only $174, and McCracken county by the nice sum of $15,760.69, and these are the only counties in this district that are not on the pauper list.

The following counties are non-revenue-paying counties by the following sums:

Ballard, by $3,456.12; Caldwell, by $4,835.20; Calloway, by $11,609.94; Carlisle, by $913.49; Crittenden, by $5,026.17; Fulton, by $773.74; Graves, by $6,113.14; Livingston, by $2,788.29; Lyon, by $7,407.45; Marshall, by $9,943.80; Trigg, by $8,324.03.

It will be observed that Calloway and Marshall counties drop into the pauper class with a thud. Calloway falls behind by $11,609.94 and the small county of Marshall by $9,943.80, and the little county of Lyon by $7,475.45.

These figures are taken from the Auditor's report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913, and the truth is there is not a county in this district that should be in the pauper list, much less by such large sums as are named above.

It does look like if the business of these counties were conducted as a good business man would conduct his own business the counties would not fall behind so much each year.—[Mayfield Messenger.]

NEWSPAPERS DO NOT INFLUENCE JURYMEN

In Deciding a Verdict—In Fact
They Qualify Him For Service.

It has been the custom in our courts to disqualify jurors from sitting on a case about which they have read in newspapers.

Judge David H. Harris, of the thirty-fourth Missouri judicial circuit, takes a different view of the matter.

His latest defense of the press occurred in the case of Mrs. Susan Ross, charged with the murder of her husband, who sought to secure a change of venue, but which Judge Harris overruled. Newspaper articles were offered as evidence to show that they had prejudiced the people of the county so that they could not with fairness serve as jurors.

Judge Harris holds that a man who does not read the newspapers would prove a less capable juror than the one who does. "It may be safely stated as a general proposition," said Judge Harris, "that the time has come when, if a man doesn't read the newspapers, his qualifications to sit as a juror in any kind of a case are seriously questioned. Continuing, he said:

"The witnesses were practically agreed that, so far as they could judge, the unfavorable opinions they had heard expressed touching on the guilt of the defendant were based upon newspaper accounts or upon neighborhood rumor and gossip and were not and would not be changed by the evidence. And this brings us to the crux of the whole matter. Our law provides that if a juror has formed or expressed an opinion as to the merits of the case, he is disqualified, but if such opinion is founded only on newspaper reports or rumor, he is not disqualified."

"The newspaper articles offered in evidence are absolutely free from unfair, inflammatory or prejudiced statements, nor did any of the newspapers indulge in any editorial comment. The newspapers did nothing more than to print from time to time somewhat detailed and circumstantial but fair and impartial accounts of the various occurrences. Every newspaper worthy of the name is expected to do this, and it is expected further that these papers will be read by citizens generally, including possible jurors."

SKETCH OF ORIGIN OF "GO-TO-CHURCH" SUNDAY

Before President Francis E. Clark of the Christian Endeavor Society sailed for Europe to continue his literary work of investigating the ancient Pauline cities, he helped lay the foundation of a movement which aims to energize, if not to revolutionize, church-going. Originating with the Endeavorers of Chicago as a part of their campaign to help the church, the suggestion was thrown out for a general "Go-to-Church-Sunday," and the date for putting it into operation was set for February 1. Wide publicity was given to the idea, and it quickly became popular. While some cities preferred a different date, the plan for a simultaneous movement in cities, towns and villages over a very wide area was generally accepted with favor. Dr. Clark felt convinced that such an event would possess a big significance as a substantial demonstration of what could be done on any, if not all, the Sundays in the year, if only men and women would throw off the lazy habit of indifference to religion and could be made to see, even for one day, how much they have missed that is of spiritual and intellectual value. Besides, the occasion would be one which the churches should make memorable by showing the most marked hospital to strangers. The church itself and all its belongings should be made more inviting and attractive than ever before, the services more evangelical and in heartier accord with the spiritual needs of the people, the music such as large audiences can readily join in—for there is nothing that more surely touches the heart than good congregational singing. "Go-to-Church Sunday" can be made the one great annual field-day for all the churches to extend their borders.—[The Christian Herald.]

Can there be more satisfactory testimony to the efficiency of a scheme than the fact that it has been adopted by the community in which it originated and has been in use so long that the people take it as a matter of course? This thought occurred to me as I stood on the depot platform a few days ago and watched a town teamster dragging the streets of Maitland.

For fear you think I may be feeling much exhilarated because of this laudatory statement, let me hasten to say that the good old proverb touching on a prophet's standing in his own country still holds; for the drag that I watched was not built precisely as I would have had it built, nor is it used as I would use it. Yet it produces a splendid effect and the work is paid for by the city council, and has been so paid for ten years or more.

This drag not only was built wrong but the hitch was wrong and the driver was not getting the best results.

We boarded the train, my wife and I, and when we had ridden about a dozen miles we found ourselves moving parallel to a three-mile stretch of gumbo highway, lying in the Missouri river bottom between Mound City and Bigelow, Missouri. It is three miles long and is the first piece of road ever dragged with county funds, beginning in 1902.

Here we saw two men and four horses dragging. Here was another mistake. The teams should have been attached to the drag by a four horse evener and should have been driven by one man, instead of being hitched by double-trees to each end of the drag. I have not time to argue here, I merely state a fact for the benefit of your readers.

All along our way to St. Joseph we saw roads that had been dragged. No trouble to tell the difference as we steamed past.

Between St. Joseph and Kansas City, the next day, greater proportion of the roads were dragged; the soil also being in a little better condition for the work. It was in Platte county, some fifteen miles north of Kansas City, that I found a man with a seat on his drag. A seat on a drag is a nuisance. Unless a man is an invalid or infirm because of age, or is a cripple, he can find no excuse for the unpardonable sin of attaching a seat to a drag. Good work demands that the driver of the drag shall be on his feet, in position to promptly shift his weight from place to place as the exigencies of the case require. Often a shift of eighteen inches means success or failure. The man who takes pride in his work must stand on his feet; he must drive every moment of the time; when he wishes to glance away, he had better stop the team.

I am now on my third trip into Texas within six months. The Texans are dragging hundreds of miles of road. Good reports come to me from Arkansas; Fayetteville, Russellville and elsewhere. Louisiana too is moving forward. News of like import comes from Washington, Montana and Minnesota.

THE CONFEDERATE DEAD TO RECEIVE ATTENTION Graves Are To Be Suitably Marked By Federal Government.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Graves of Confederate soldiers in all parts of the United States are to be marked by the Federal Government under the terms of a bill which has passed the Senate and which is now awaiting report from the House Committee on Military Affairs.

For this purpose $50,000 is appropriated, the unexpended balance of an appropriation for marking graves which was voted first in 1906 and has since been extended from time to time.

The bill, which has passed the Senate, contains the following provision:

"That hereafter the provisions of said act shall include and apply to the graves of Confederate soldiers and sailors lying in all national cemeteries and cemeteries at Federal military stations or localities throughout the country."

The last part of this provision is construed to mean that the graves, whether in private cemeteries or elsewhere, will be marked at the expense of the Federal Government.

The act also provides that the compensation of the commissioner in charge of the work of making graves shall be fixed by the Secretary of War. Senator Du Pont, of Delaware, who reported the bill from the Senate Committee on Military Affairs, and who urged its passage, said that it was intended that the appropriation should be continued in force until the balance shall have been expended.

Because of the new labor undertaken, in consequence of the provision quoted, it is probable that a further appropriation will be asked for two years hence and that the work of marking graves, especially those of Confederate veterans, will continue for years to come.

A NEW SCHEME TO KEEP HUSBAND HOME AT NIGHTS

Chestertown, Md., Feb. 21.—Mrs. Jeff Hurd, who lives near here, admitted to the authorities yesterday that the story of an attack by a negro while she was alone with her two small children at night, recently, was fiction concocted to keep her husband at home nights.

Mrs. Hurd had given a graphic recital of her struggle with her assailant, averring that she slashed him with a butcher knife and drove him off bleeding from his wounds.

The young woman said she had become so worked up over being left on the farm alone that she killed a chicken and smeared the blood about the place to heighten the effect of the story upon her husband.

GIRLS ARE ADDICTED TO SMOKING CIGARETTES

New York, Feb. 23.—The war against the cigarette is going to be carried into the public schools, if Mrs. Jennie Hobson Miliken, State superintendent of the Anti-Cigarette League, can get permission from the Board of Education. She is going to call upon the board as soon as possible and ask them to permit her and several physicians to visit public schools after hours and paint with silver nitrate the throats of little boys and girls who ask for the treatment.

In a statement made public to-day Mrs. Miliken said that she had talked with many school principals, and those who did not smoke themselves were anxious to co-operate with her. The women principals especially begged her to come and save the boys from the smoking habit that was ruining their scholarship and morals.

In the meantime the work is being carried on at Mrs. Miliken's home. Every Friday evening there is a meeting of the milken club, as the anti-cigarette smokers are called, and children are given the remedy which was used recently by a New Jersey Judge.

"There are a few girls who come to me, too," said Mrs. Miliken. "They are always terribly ashamed, but they say they have learned to smoke from some older girl and now they can't get rid of the habit. They are afraid their mothers will find out about it."

The demonstration and exhibit car of the Anti-Tuberculosis Association visited Hartford Saturday and Sunday. Lectures were given at the court house Sunday night and at the car Sunday afternoon from two till four o'clock. There was a large crowd at the car in the afternoon which was very much larger in numbers at court hall at night and everybody seemed pleased with the demonstration work.

A. S. of E. Meeting.

The County Union of the American Society of Equity was held in court hall here Saturday. There was a good attendance and much business was transacted in the forenoon. The greater part of the afternoon session was taken up by the speeches of Prof. Jas. P. Faulkner, who has charge of the tuberculosis car, which was in Hartford at the time, and Mr. S. B. Robertson, State secretary of the American Society of Equity.

Owing to the lateness of the hour when Mr. Faulkner concluded his very interesting and beneficial lecture, Mr. Robertson's time was limited. He made good use of the time left, making a splendid and telling plea for those who had abandoned the A. S. of E. to return to the organization that has been the farmer's best friend.

An Exciting Experience.

Miss Mary Caldwell, a cousin of Mrs. Joe T. Miller, with whom she is boarding, three and a half miles southwest of Hartford, had a novel and for the time an exciting experience yesterday morning.

She is taking a teachers' course in Hartford College and rides from home each morning. She started to town yesterday morning and finding the water over the levy, she came up the railroad and undertook to lead her horse across the railroad bridge over Muddy creek. Soon after the horse got on the bridge it made a misstep and fell between the ties. Seeing it was impossible for the horse to extricate itself, Miss Caldwell rushed to the nearest telephone and the section crew was summoned and got the horse off the bridge just a few minutes before the pay car came thundering by.

In An Icy Grip.

For the last two days Hartford and Ohio county have been in the grip of the worst sleet and ice storm in twelve years. The ice coating formed Sunday night from a slow rainfall and remaining intact all day Monday, snow was added to it Monday night. Telephone poles and large tree branches fell in various portions of town and the damage to fruit and other trees throughout the county is said to be great. The wires of the new Farmers' or Home line telephone company were not very badly affected, but the Cumberland lines were said to be in bad shape, owing to some of the wires being old and the great weight of the ice, which broke the wires in various places. The electric light wires, some of them being crossed with the telephone wires, were put out of commission and telephone service was interfered with. Thermometers registered at five degrees above zero yesterday morning.

THE CONTRACT SYSTEM

IS ADOPTED BY COUNTY

For Working Roads—$1,750 Goes

To Each Magisterial District.

The Fiscal Court at its term which has just adjourned, adopted the contract system of working the roads in Ohio county and appropriated $1,750 to each Magisterial District, making a total of $14,000 appropriated for that purpose, to be divided by the County Road Engineer and his helpers between the various voting precincts, in proportion to the mileage of roads therein. It is the hope of the Fiscal Court to place and put our roads in good condition with this sum, and the good people of Ohio county should enter heartily into the work of dragging, etc., on the roads in order to assist the county to make this sum do the work, and leave about $6,000 of the road fund to be paid on the debts of the county, thereby stopping interest which is and has been for some time providing such a burden to the taxpayers of the county.

If the present Fiscal Court, by aid of the public-spirited people over the county, can succeed in running the county's affairs in this manner and thereby cut down the interest-bearing indebtedness, they will deserve the commendation of every one, and The Herald most heartily endorses their effort and tenders its aid in every worthy undertaking.

Too much cannot be said in the behalf of Dr. Ford and other citizens of Hartford in an effort to enlist volunteer workers around Hartford. We are informed other portions of the county are following the example and it is hoped that many miles of road will be put in good condition by reason of this move.

RESULT OF THE RECENT MINE WORKERS' ELECTION

McHenry, Ky., Feb. 23, 1914.

The recent returns from the mine workers' election which was held on Saturday, February 14th, shows all the old officers elected with the exception of Robt. Pollock, who was defeated by Dave Duncan for vice president by 135 majority, and Chas. W. Mullikin, who won out by 97 majority for district executive board member. Lonnie Jackson, of Daviess county, was also elected by a small majority.

There were 28 candidates from the six different counties for board member. The salary of the president per month is $86, vice president $80.16, secretary-treasurer $86, board members $3.08 per day. All of the officers receive the above amount, together with all the legitimate expenses.

The annual convention will be held in Louisville, Ky., on March 3d. There will be 200 delegates in attendance, representing 7,000 mine workers of this district. Among those who will attend the Constitutional and Scale Convention from McHenry are John T. Mains, J. D. Walker, V. M. Renter and Chas. W. Mullikin. These four will attend as district officials and each represents his own local as delegate also.

LOAD OF TOBACCO WAS SPILLED INTO DITCH

The Owensboro Messenger of Friday says:

While enroute to Owensboro to attend the sale at the Lancaster loose leaf floor, a wagon load of tobacco, containing 3,500 pounds, and the property of G. Pollard, F. Staples and A. Hurt, of the Sulphur Springs neighborhood, of Ohio county, was precipitated into a ditch, five feet deep filled to the top with water as the result of the heavy rainfall of the last two days, about two miles east of Philpot.

Pollard was in charge of the load of tobacco. He had been driving through the rain practically all day and was making an effort to reach Philpot, where he had planned to hitch for the night. Shortly after 7 o'clock, while progressing very slowly, owing to the fact that the water was over the road in many places, Pollard, unable to see where he was driving, on account of the intense darkness, allowed his team to get off of the road, and one of the horses slid into the ditch. Pollard jumped as the wagon toppled into the water-filled ditch. Only his presence of

THE WORST BLIZZARD

OF PRESENT WINTER

Prevailed Throughout the Middle West During Past Few Days.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—The Washington's birthday storm of snow and wind which descended on the Middle Western States yesterday still held them in its grip to-day. Snow continued to fall and drift in nearly all of the affected regions and even in those localities where storm conditions abated, low temperatures made difficult the work of clearing the railroads and setting up miles of prostrate wires.

Conditions in Indiana grew worse instead of ameliorating, it was reported. Wires were blown down all over the State and nearly all interurban lines tied up. Snow was being driven before a twenty-five-mile wind at St. Louis and drifts were growing deeper hourly on the railroads. Similar conditions were reported from Illinois. Shortage of fuel was imminent in Decatur, and several fatalities due to the cold were recorded in the State.

The storm was moderating over the prairie States to-day, however, and through trains were fighting their way three to six hours late through the drifts. There was a heavy task of repairing fallen wires and clearing roads in prospect all over Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri, according to reports gathered at Kansas City, Mo.

With the blizzard on its way East, Ohio points reported that snow was falling without cessation and drifting before high winds. Mail trains arriving in Chicago were four or five hours late. The Cincinnati mail was four hours late and trains from the South were three hours. Northern trains also were behind their usual schedules, mails being delayed an average of two hours.

Grain men were apprehensive of the effect of the storm on the winter wheat crop.

In Central Illinois and Missouri many trains were reported stalled by the deep snow, which was drifted badly by the wind. Interurban lines were put out of commission, and in several cities street car traffic was entirely stopped.

Around Lake Michigan the storm abated during the night, and early to-day it was clear and cold, the thermometer registering 16 above zero at 7 o'clock. Colder weather and snow was the forecast to-day for Chicago.

ZION CITY LAYS OUT STRICT LINE

For The Government Of Its People.

MANY PRACTICES FORBIDDEN

Such As Short Sleeves, Low Necks, Peekaboo Waists, Riding Astride.

CAN'T KISS A WIFE GOODBYE

Chicago, Feb. 20.—The Zion City council passed an ordinance recently for the promotion of public morals and decency. It was aimed chiefly at the conduct of young people in Zion City.

Section 1 of the ordinance makes it unlawful for any person within the city of Zion to do any act, or suggest any conduct, or use any word that is profane, vulgar, or immoral, or that has a tendency to degrade or debase public morals or offend public decency.

Section 2 makes it unlawful for any person in a loud or boisterous tone or voice to ask another to accompany him or her in a buggy, carriage, automobile, motorcycle, or other vehicle, or for a walk, or for a trip on horse-cars, which is commonly known as "flirting" or "mashing."

Section 3 makes it to be unlawful for any operator of any bicycle or motorcycle to take on his machine any passenger of the opposite sex except such passenger be carried in or upon a side car of such machine; and no woman shall ride upon any horse other than sideways, and then only when clothed as becomes modesty and decency. It is also unlawful for any person to sit on the knee or lap of the opposite sex, or to embrace one another in a public place or within the public view.

Every dress of any woman above the age of 12 years cut or fitted in a style or manner to show or expose, or partially show or expose, the neck and shoulders of the wearer lower than the junction of the pit of the neck with the clavical or collar bones or on the shoulders a greater distance than a third part from the neck to the tip of the shoulders, if worn in public, or in public view, shall be deemed immodest, vulgar, indecent, and suggestive of low and vicious morals and tending to debase innocence and purity and degrade the best interests of society.

No woman or girl over the age of 15 shall expose her arm or arms in public above the middle of the forearm; nor shall she wear "peekaboo" or mosquito-net stockings or other clothing so as to expose in any manner any part of the wearer other than provided in this section, nor shall she wear in public the so-called sheath gown, or slit skirt, or X-ray dress.

Section 5 deals with bathing on the beach. It provides every woman bather shall wear a suit composed of black stockings, a skirt which shall extend downward from the waistline to at least six inches below the knees. Every man shall wear a suit which at least shall cover his entire body and his lower limbs to below the knees, together from the waist line to a point not higher than half way between the knee and the knees. The material of every bathing suit shall be of nontransparent material, and when worn and wet, same shall not be so small as to adhere to the wearer as would tights.

At this moment in the reading before the council a man seated in the back row of the chamber arose and addressed the mayor:

"Mr. Mayor, may I ask a question?"

"Yes," replied Mayor Clendinen, "but you must be brief."

"Your honor, the ordinance does not provide for a complete covering for the men's legs. I object to men going around in bathing suits with bare legs."

The man sat down and Mayor Clendinen scratched his head.

"I'll admit," said the mayor, "Brother Stanton has gone one better. We had left the men out by not providing stockings."

Assistant Marshal W. H. Handyside then arose with an offended air. He was from the land of thistles.

"Your honor," he said, addressing the mayor with some emotion, "I object to the stockings. My father's a Scotchman. It is an insult to the clan to wear kilts and stockings, too."

The city clerk quoted psalm 147:10—"He taketh not pleasure in the legs of a man."

The ordinance then had a safe passage, seven aldermen voting in its favor. A penalty of from $5 to $200 or imprisonment for from five days to six months or both fine and imprisonment is provided for a violation of any of these provisions.

AN OBLIGING CLERK AND A SWEET YOUNG WOMAN

She came into the telegraph office and rapped on the counter. The clerk remembered that she had been there about 10 minutes before as he came forward to meet her. He wondered what she wanted this time.

"Oh," she said, "let me have that telegram I wrote just now. I forgot something very important. I wanted to underscore 'perfectly lovely' in acknowledging the receipt of that bracelet. Will it cost anything extra?"

"No, ma'am," said the accommodating clerk, as he handed her the message.

The young woman drew two heavy lines beneath the words and said: "It's awfully good of you to let me do that. It will please Arthur ever so much."

"Don't mention it," said the clerk. "If you would like it I will put a few drops of violet extract on the telegram at the same rates."

"Oh, thank you, sir! You don't know how much I would appreciate it. I'm going to send all my telegrams through this office. You are so obliging."

And the smile she gave him would have done anyone good, with the possible exception of Arthur. [The Pathfinder.]

Fee System in Kentucky.

The fee system in Kentucky has grown to be a bugbear. In many cases the "emoluments" or fees connected with certain county offices have grown to such proportions as to far exceed the salary of the office, and so great are they as to tempt the aspirants for the office to the expenditure of vast sums of money in securing the tenure thereof. POEMS YOU'LL ENJOY.

The Herald's Special Selections

ONE OF MORGAN'S MEN.

Girl of the yellow roses,
In the glow of a bygone day,
Dark were your eyes with dreaming,
Wistful your smile alway,
And I, your gay young lover,
Had small chance of wooing you then.

For you were a girl of Kentucky,
And I, one of Morgan's Men.

I can see you yet as you waited
'Neath the elm by the old yard gate,
And your heart beat fast as my horse's hoofs,

Fro' Young Love had found his mate.

High were my hopes and my heart, dear,

I laughed at your bodings then,
And I left you, My Lady of Roses,
To ride with Morgan's Men.

Scurry of hoofs on the moonlit road,
Flashing of swords in flight,
Daredevil song 'midst the roar of guns,

Daredevil charge through the night,
Here with the twilight shadows;
There, when day broke again;

Like the bolt of the fierce white lightning
Was the rush of Morgan's Men.

But the War was not for our winning,
Girl of the days of yore!

Outworn we were and outnumbered,
Beaten and bruised and sore.

Yet from Defeat you called me
Back to your heart again,
And lifted your loyal lips to my kiss,

Alas for Morgan's Men!

Love, the breath of your roses
Was never half so sweet
As your smile, when into the Way of Peace

You guided my weary feet,
And that smile is still my sunshine,
And the dreams you were dreaming then

Have all come true for a fellow
Who was one of Morgan's Men.

CRITICISM.

(By Walt Mason.)

We're all so quick to criticize, and show where things are wrong! If some one makes a batch of pies, or sings a soulful song, "the pies are pretty fierce," we say, "the song is on the blink;" it is our cheerful little think: The housewife works about a week to tidy up the flat; then hubby comes and starts a shriek: "Where have you laid my hat?" The windows have been nicely washed, the rugs are bright and clean; around the kitchen wife has sloshed with soap and gasoline. The husband doesn't notice that, but glares upon his face. He cannot find his darned old hat, and so kicks up a row. "You ought to have some system, Jane," he says, "you should, by jings; it always gives my leg a pain to hunt for missing things. When mother lived—" so he declares, and talks for forty miles, and Jane sits on the cellar stairs and weeps in thirteen styles. Why not improve our carping ways, and cause less sighs and tears? Why not look round for things to praise, say once in seven years?

Best Stories At Little Cost.

The fiction writer is having his inning these days. Good short stories are commanding prices that range from $75 to $750 apiece, according to the fame of the author, while the demand grows keener every year. It is an extremely expensive thing to publish a high-class magazine nowadays, filled with the work of the most famous authors and artists. Yet is exactly such a magazine that The Chicago Record-Herald furnishes as a regular part of its Sunday issue.

The Sunday Magazine of The Record-Herald is a real magazine, beautifully illustrated by the foremost artists of the day and filled with the best stories, articles and serial novels that money can buy. By a clever stroke of enterprise a year or two ago its editors turned a steady stream of the finest short stories into its columns. We refer to its $10,000 prize contest. The result of that unique contest has been to raise the Sunday Magazine of The Record-Herald to the top rank as regards short stories and serial novels. It now numbers among its contributors such writers as Conan Doyle, Rider Haggard, Jack London, Rex Beach, Roy Norton, Owen Johnson, Amedee Rives, Molly Elliott Seawell, George Barr McCutcheon, Richard Le Gallienne, Lloyd Osbourne—and so on through a long list of noted names. The illustrations, too, are as fine as the stories, being the work of Flagg, Fisher, Coll and other great artists.

By all odds the best literary and artistic treat offered to newspaper readers to-day is the Sunday Magazine of The Record-Herald.

MRS. EVERSOLE GIVEN NEW TRIAL ON APPEAL

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 20.—The equal right of a wife with her husband in the home and her immunity from chastisement by him was reiterated by the Court of Appeals in an opinion written by Judge Settle reversing the Perry Circuit Court in the case of Emma Eversole, who was convicted of killing her husband, Mack Eversole, September 19 last, and sentenced to a term of from two to twenty-one years.

The Court, reviewing the evidence, said it showed that Mack Eversole had spent the night before in his store with a former wife; that he sent over home for two dinners to be prepared by Mrs. Eversole and carried to the store. When she sent over one he refused to receive it and went to the house. He had been drinking and the evidence is conflicting as to what followed. Mrs. Eversole and other witnesses testified that he beat his wife over the head with a shotgun and she drew a revolver and shot him. He died a few hours later, but first made a dying statement, declaring that he had not touched his wife when she shot him.

The Court directed the court on retrial of the case to instruct the jury as to the wife's right to defend herself from assault by her husband.

If You are Subject to Colds This Editorial will Interest You.

A Great Majority of People Get One or More Colds Every Season and It is of Vital Interest to All to Learn How to Avoid and Relieve Colds Quickly, Since Colds are Said to be Contagious.

Some people think colds are only caught through exposure. This in return is contradicted by the fact that Arctic explorers are peculiarly free from colds. It is more generally accepted that colds are the result of civilized life, due to super-heated rooms and a very rapid change in temperature which causes the nerve centers to be depressed, and still more largely due to contagion—one member of a family imparting a cold to another by sneezing or coughing.

A cold means nothing if relieved quickly. That such a purpose may be accomplished, a quick aid to a cold is an essential. A remedy especially devised to relieve colds quickly is PERUNA.

PERUNA contains such ingredients that have an especially beneficial influence upon the inflamed mucous membranes and the quicker these mucous membranes are given the benefit of a remedy like PERUNA, the quicker the relief and the less contagion.

A neglected cold may become a serious menace to one's own life, and far worse, may endanger one's family.

We insure our homes against fire, our lives against death. Why should we not insure ourselves against colds if possible by having a medicine in the family chest that can be used at once?

PERUNA is a reliable household remedy for colds and should be in every home, for there should be a desire to combat a cold as quickly as possible. This is enlightened hygiene.

People who are feeble and run down are more subject to colds than persons in normal health. Such persons need outdoor life and PERUNA to help build up a strong constitution. If you have a poor appetite that is often a warning that you probably need a tonic like Peruna for Peruna aids the digestive organs. When your appetite is fair and work and exercise do not quickly tire you, your susceptibility to colds diminishes very much.

Persons who object to liquid medicines can now obtain PERUNA TABLETS.

NOT KNOWN WHEN PEARLS WERE FIRST DISCOVERED

No record exists, or even tradition, as to the discovery of the first pearl. The mystery of its origin has doubtless contributed in no small degree to render it the prime favorite that it has ever been in the eyes of the Orientals. From time immemorial, the nations of antiquity have used the pearl to decorate their persons, and adorn their temples, and we find many curious beliefs existing as to its origin. The one most prevalent in Pliny's time was that pearls were formed from the dew of heaven, falling into the open shells at breeding time, and it was in allusion to this pretty conceit that a noble Venetian lady named Corrado had a gold medal struck (bearing the date 1620) on the reverse of which is an open shell receiving the drops of dew from heaven which form into pearls as they fall. The motto was "Rore livino" (by the divine dew). In these more practical but less poetic days the generally accepted theory is that some foreign substance, possibly even a grain of sand, having by accident entered the shell of the oyster, a certain amount of irritation is induced which causes the exudation of a pearly secretion (known as nacre), and this effectually covers up the intruder; and also, that with the growth of the oyster the pearl increases in size.

The pearl, unlike all other gems, requires no assistance from man to enhance its value, or from art to add one iota to its perfect loveliness.—[National Magazine.]

MUCH MONEY PUT INTO BUILDING LAST YEAR

For every human being in the United States $11 was last year put into a building of some kind. The money expended in such operations just about balances our Government debt.

There are no figures to show definitely how much of this immense sum went into buildings that earn nothing, but far more than half of it certainly has become nailed down into an investment that is noncreative.

Most of the cash a man devotes to his home at once goes into the drone class, whereas, the money he spends for a chicken house or a better stable for his cows or improved farm implements immediately begins to work and earns interest upon the investment. A new store is a money grubber, but frills upon the home are not.

Right here is one reason why Europeans, who as a class earn far less every year than Americans, have such stupendous sums to invest in securities. Building in Europe cannot exceed $2 for each person as against five times that for Americans.

No other part of the earth's surface was ever covered in so brief a time with such a colossal amount of buildings as our particular slice of North America.

And So It Was.

An English minister, who guarded his morning study hour very carefully, told the new maid that under no circumstances were callers to be admitted—except, of course, he added, in case of life and death.

Half an hour later the maid knocked at his door. "A gentleman to see you, sir."

"Why, I thought I told you—"

"Yes, I told him," she replied, "but he says it is a question of life and death."

So he went down stairs and found an insurance agent.

IT EVIDENTLY SEEMS A MIGHTY GOOD THING

That This Old Earth Does Not Turn Any Faster Than
It Does.

It has been figured out that if the earth were to rotate 18 times as fast as it does now, a man at the equator would weigh nothing, and that if he jumped in the air he would remain there.

The man who would weigh nothing at the equator would weigh 200 pounds at the poles, with varying weights between the poles and the equator. There are no planets that turn 18 times as fast as the earth, but there are some where the force of gravity is entirely different to what it is here. On the moon the average man would weigh no more than 50 pounds, it has been estimated, and could jump as many feet—that is, 50 feet—without trouble. This, however, would happen on any part of the moon, not because of the centrifugal force, as would be the case if we were spinning about 18 times faster, but due to a lack of gravitational force on the moon.

Measuring labor from our present standards, a laborer would have to receive enormous prices at the poles and scarcely anything at the equator, for at the poles everything would be extremely heavy, while at the equator a man might pick up a small cottage if he could get a good grip on it, and carry it about.

To go South under such circumstances would mean more than it does now, for in the South a man would feel light and springy, he could walk all day without tiring and jump over almost any obstacle, like a tree or a house, landing lightly.

Unless railroads ran east and west the problem would be difficult to solve, it seems, inasmuch as a locomotive could scarcely pull the train in the North, while in the South they would have to run under the lightest of pressure or else, with full steam on and no gravity, the train would pass the equator at about the literal speed of lightning.

All this is, of course, conjecture, but it is based on careful studies of centrifugal force and its action on gravity.

HE CONDEMN'S PASSING THE PLATE IN CHURCH

Rev. J. E. Crowther, of New York, in his closing address at the "efficiency conference" of the Methodist Episcopal churchmen, at People's Temple, declared that the custom of passing the plate in church must go, and expressed the hope that he would see the day when the plate is no longer passed. He said in part:

"The church money should be collected by means of a house-to-house canvass and by placing boxes at the church doors, but not by shoving the plate under the noses of the brethren. You can never get money out of people by appealing in this begging manner."

"Under the plate-passing system the ushers stalk down the aisle in a stately manner, and line up at the altar as if they had brought something worth while, and the pastor asks God's blessing on the offering. But what is there in the plate to be thankful for? Nothing but a lot of nickels and coppers and a few ten-cent pieces, these last having been put in by people who could not change a dime. No, a better system than this is needed. Just because we are religious is no reason we should be stupid."—[Boston Post.]

MET TIGER ON JOURNEY—CHOKED IT TO DEATH

In the mountainous province of Kirin, formerly one of the three provinces of Manchuria, dispatches are conveyed by soldiers, who ride from one district to another. One day last November a soldier was on his way back to Kirin City, the capital of the province, when he espied a large tiger coming toward him. Dismounting, he aimed as best he could, with a rifle not of the most modern pattern, and fired. The animal, though wounded, was not disabled, and sprang in a fury toward the soldier. Fortunately for the man, he kept his head, and with the rifle tightly clasped and supported against his chest, awaited the oncoming of the animal. Just as the tiger was ready for the final spring, with his jaws wide open, the soldier jammed the point of the rifle with all his might through the mouth, against the base of the skull. The force of the animal's spring as he rushed forward no doubt helped to end the struggle, for in a few minutes the tiger was lying on its side and breathing its last. The plucky soldier rode to the capital, 30 miles away, and reported the incident to his commander. Half a dozen other soldiers then accompanied him to the spot, and between them the animal was carried home and photographed in front of the commander's house with the damaged rifle in sight.

A Wonderful Clock.

The most wonderful clock in the world is in St. Petersburg. It has 95 faces. It indicates simultaneously the time of day at 30 points on the earth surface, besides the movement of the earth around the sun, the phases of the moon, the signs of the zodiac, the passage over the meridian of more than 50 stars of the northern hemisphere, and the date according to the Gregorian, Greek, Mussulman and Hebrew calendars. It took two years to put the works together.—[New York American.]

SPECIAL NOTICE
OBITUARIES, RESOLUTIONS
OF RESPECT, &c.

The Hartford Herald has adopted a new rule in regard to Obituaries, Resolutions of Respect, Cards of Thanks, &c., whether written personally or for lodges, churches or individuals, and that is, we shall charge at the rate of five cents per line for all such articles, except obituary poetry, which will be one cent per word straight.

The amount, in cash or stamps, must accompany each article, or it will not be printed. Six words average a line in ordinary reading and every separate character or initial letter counts as a word. The heading and the signature both count one line each, even if they are only a word or two. All obituary poetry, straight through, one cent per word. This ruling applies to everybody alike, without any distinction. Contributors please remember.

NO INTERVENTION BY THE BRITISH

Is Announcement From Foreign Office.

WAITING ON UNITED STATES

Bryan, Disclaiming Responsibility, Promises Complete Investigation.

BRITISH BECOMING WORKED UP

London, Feb. 23.—"The pacification of Mexico is an object we honestly desire to see accomplished, but it is impossible to effect it by British intervention. We do not intend to make any attempt of that character, which would be both futile and impolitic."

This is the attitude of the British Foreign Office, as outlined to-day in the House of Commons by Francis Dyke-Acland, Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, "after full consideration of the series of victimizations of British subjects in Mexico, culminating in the execution of William S. Benton by Villa at Juarez."

Mr. Acland informed the House that the British Government had been in frequent communication with the Governments of the United States and Mexico respecting the protection of British lives and property in Mexico.

"The continued fighting in Mexico," he added, "is of very great prejudice to British and other commercial interests, and is a matter for very great concern."

Mr. Acland promised to lay the papers on the subject of Mexico before the House of Commons as soon as possible, but he added significantly:

"The most interesting papers at the British Foreign Office, however, are communications made at various times with the Government of the United States concerning its policy and its views regarding Mexico. Some of these are of a confidential character, and I cannot include them in a Blue Book without asking the consent of the United States Government."

Mr. Acland emphasized the undesirability of publishing anything at present which might tend to increase the chances of danger to British property at the hands of the contending parties in Mexico.

When the British Foreign Secretary related how Sir Cecil Spring-Rice had told Secretary of State Bryan that the public opinion of Europe was likely to be seriously affected by Villa's attitude, an encouraging cheer rolled through the House.

Sir Edward Grey added that Mr. Bryan, while declining responsibility for Villa's doings, had promised full inquiry. He said details would be forthcoming and expressed deep regret at the occurrence. Sir Edward Grey continued:

"Before this incident occurred, the United States Government had at our request impressed upon the leaders of the Constitutional party in Mexico the necessity of respecting the lives of foreigners. I should like to add that the fact that we are communicating with the Government of the United States does not, of course, imply that it has any responsibility for what has taken place."

"Communication had been made because the United States alone can in these circumstances exercise any influence to discover the truth and get justice done. Juarez is close to the United States frontier, and we have ourselves no means of exercising influence in those regions under existing circumstances. I am still in communication with the British Ambassador at Washington and with the United States at what further steps can be taken."

Sir John Rees asked whether Sir Edward Grey had any information concerning other Europeans who are said to have disappeared in Mexico. Sir Edward replied:

"No, but I have already telegraphed to Sir Cecil Spring-Rice suggesting for his consideration what steps it would be possible to take in this very disturbed region to ascertain the whereabouts of these people."

ENGLISH MILITANTS HARASS THEIR RULERS

London, Feb. 21.—Militant suffragettes took advantage of the presence of the King and Queen and Prince of Wales at His Majesty's Theater to-night to draw their attention to the suffragette cause by standing up at the close of the second act and shouting "Votes for women!" The militants were speedily ejected by attendants to the accompaniment of a storm of hisses from the indignant audience.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the elusive—or her double—addressed a large meeting from the balcony of a house in the Chelsea district to-night.

Referring to the arrest of her double a week ago at Kensington, the speaker drew what was intended to be a pathetic picture of how easy it would be for an accident to happen on a dark night while such an arrest was being carried out.

She described how convenient it would be if by "an accidental blow" an end should be put to Mrs. Pankhurst. She defied the authorities to arrest her and vowed she would never serve the term of penal servitude to which she had been sentenced, and then disappeared.

There was considerable scuffling between the audience and the police in the street, but the vicinity of the house was cleared quickly.

A SLIGHT BLOOD TAIN PRECIPITATED TRAGEDY

Man Found His Supposed White
Sweetheart Walking
With Negro.

Philadelphia, Feb. 21.—Just a little drop of negro blood, revealed when a woman who has been posing as white for at least two years walked on the street with a negro, caused a tragedy this morning, in which an innocent woman was killed.

The woman with negro blood in her veins was seriously wounded, after which her lover, who did the shooting, turned the revolver on himself. He is dying in a hospital.

The murderer is a young automobile salesman. His first victim was a fifty-five-year-old waitress in a restaurant, where the shooting took place, and his sweetheart, who is in a serious condition from the revolver bullet, is a pretty salesgirl, who posed as a pure Caucasian.

Charles Kinlock, who did the shooting, has been wooing the pretty dark-skinned salesgirl and has endeavored to persuade her to be married to him, according to the girl.

The girl says she refused, because she had learned that Kinlock was married. Last night Kinlock tried to make an engagement with Ora Griffin, this dark-skinned salesgirl, and she refused to meet him. Later she met one of her own race and Kinlock saw her with him.

Early this morning Kinlock started for the restaurant at which the Griffin girl was employed. He reached there just before the breakfast rush hour.

The Griffin girl and Miss Anna Phillips were sitting in the rear of the dining room. Kinlock shot at the girl. The bullet pierced her side. She fled as Kinlock fired again, but Kinlock missed. Mrs. Phillips rushed forward, prepared to grapple with Kinlock. He placed the revolver at the breast of the aged woman and pulled the trigger. The bullet entered her breast. Death was instantaneous.

For a moment Kinlock stood as if dazed. Then he walked toward the door, out of which frightened patrons and employees were endeavoring to squeeze. He got as far as the middle of the room, where he turned the revolver on himself.

SEARCH FOR THE BODY OF MOSE AYERS FUTILE

Russellville, Ky., Feb. 23.—The friends and kinsmen of Mose Ayers, missing since January 29, believe that he was robbed, murdered and his body thrown into the rock quarry pond near Russellville, and have since Friday morning been busy trying to pump the pond dry and hope to complete the work by to-morrow at noon. Something like 3,000 persons from here and surrounding towns visited this pond during Sunday.

The disappearance of Mose Ayers, who bears a good reputation, has caused widespread excitement and the case has been placed in the hands of one of the best detective agencies in the country. So far every effort to get any clew to his whereabouts has been futile.

Train Blown From Rails.

Berne, Switzerland, Feb. 23.—As an express train was emerging from the new Lotschberg tunnel Sunday it was struck by a terrific squall, known as a "foehn"—a violent southeast wind peculiar to the Alps. The last two cars of the train were overturned and one passenger was killed and three were badly hurt. Similar squalls are reported from many points in the Alps.

WIVES OF MINERS TELL OF SOLDIERS' ATTACKS

Hancock, Mich., Feb. 23.—Wives of striking miners testified to-day before the congressional committee that they had been kicked and beaten by deputy sheriffs and otherwise without cause.

Mrs. Boris Fodor charged that on July 30 last Under Sheriff Hiekkila grabbed her by the hair and dragged her into the yard of her home at Kearsarge. She said deputies and soldiers were searching for her husband and the under sheriff attacked her when she refused to tell where he was. One soldier hit her with his gun, she said, and two others fired two shots into the door of the kitchen.

Mrs. Erzi Pihar, a Hungarian woman, said she was kicked in the ribs and beaten by deputies at Mohawk on September 10, then was taken handcuffed to Eagle River and lodged in jail, where she was kept for one day. She did not know what she was charged with, but said she was found not guilty.

On cross-examination she denied that she and three other women taken at the time were arrested for picketing and interfering with non-union men.

DITCH QUESTION WAS SETTLED AT CALHOUN

Calhoun, Ky., Feb. 20.—The special term of the McLean Circuit Court, as presided over by Judge Hanbery, of Hopkinsville, came to a close late Wednesday afternoon, when the court rendered a decision in favor of the petitioners.

This was a suit filed by E. S. Porter and others for the establishment of a public ditch, draining the Crowe's pond section, affecting 6,000 or 8,000 acres of land. The case has been on trial for three days, and after a spirited contest the jury returned a verdict in favor of the petitioners. A judgment was then entered establishing the drainage district, which improvement will be of great benefit to a large section of land.

This was Judge Hanbery's first visit here, and he made a splendid impression on the people who attended the trial.

The petitioners were represented by Hon. L. P. Tanner, of Owensboro, and the opposing side by County Attorney Richard Alexander.

BEAVER DAM.

Feb. 23.—Last week one of Hartford's citizens, a gentleman of color, one Wash Duncan, was arrested in town with more whiskey than the law allows on his person. Being arraigned in court for having too much whiskey in his possession, his trial was set for last Saturday. Wash appeared and confessed judgment and was fined $50, the lowest fine for that crime. Another negro was arrested for pistol-toting and fined $25. He is working out his fine. Beaver Dam is under a great religious awakening and is no place for bootleggers or pistol-toters.

Last Friday evening the new opera hall was dedicated with a game of basket ball. The second team of the Greenville high school played the second team of the W. K. S. Quite a crowd witnessed the game which was very interesting. Owing to their being so well matched, the W. K. S. boys were winners by a small margin. After the game the W. K. S. girls gave a banquet in honor of their Greenville guests. The boys were highly pleased and say they are coming back again, but we suspect the next trip will be to see the girls.

Mrs. I. S. Mason conducted chapel exercises last Friday at the school hall with the 1st, 2d and 3d grades of the school in celebrating Washington's birthday. The exercises consisted of speeches and music. Mrs. Mason had her classes well drilled and the exercises were very interesting. She had her room decorated with bunting and flags which were very appropriate for the occasion.

Prof. B. Frank Stillwell, principal of Seven Hills Graded School of Owensboro, and Prof. John Evans, same city, were the guests of Prof. J. Logan Stillwell and family Saturday and Sunday.

WORK HAS BEGUN ON THE NEW INTERURBAN

Central City, Ky., Feb. 23.—Actual work has commenced on the Central Greenville and Drakesboro interurban line, as the chief engineer, J. A. Steiner, has arrived in this city to take charge of the work.

Mr. Steiner has been chief engineer of the work of construction of the Louisville & Gallatin interurban and is a man of wide experience. Inasmuch as the survey has been made, all there is to do now is to verify it, which will be done at once and construction started.

Dr. Netherland, of Louisville, has returned, and is pushing his part of the work. There is no question but that the road will be in operation by summer.

How to Detect the Alum Baking Powder

"Which are the alum baking powders; how can I avoid them unless they are named?" asks a housekeeper.

Here is one way: take the can of a low-priced powder in your hand and read the ingredient clause upon the back label. The law requires that if the powder contains alum that fact must be there stated. If you find one of the ingredients named alum, or sulphate of aluminum, you have found an alum baking powder.

There is another and a better way. You don't have to know the names of the alum powders. Use Royal Baking Powder only; that assures you a cream of tartar powder, and the purest and most healthful baking powder beyond question.

BOY TELLS OF ALLEGED COAL STRIKE OUTRAGES

Says Soldiers Kicked Him and Brothers and Sisters—
Robbed Mother.

Trinidad, Col., Feb. 21.—An 11-year-old Slavish boy held the center of the stage late to-day in the Federal investigation of the Colorado coal miners' strike. Congressmen, attorneys, mine officials and labor leaders crowded about Gustav Yeskensk as he told in broken English of being kicked by a militiaman when he tried to protect his home and his little brothers and sisters. He declared that two soldiers came to the family ranch at Saffield on February 10, ransacked the rooms and took $200 from his mother's purse.

After the lad's testimony had been given, Capt. W. C. Danks made a statement to the committee that the alleged incident had been reported to Adjt. Gen. John Chase, and that an active investigation by the military authorities was in progress. Capt. Danks said it has not been determined whether or not the alleged outrage was the act of militiamen.

The boy told of being left in the house with his four or five younger brothers and sisters.

"Two soldiers drove up in a buggy," he said in English that was easily understood. "One of them, he too drunk to get out of the buggy. The other, he came in the house. He said we had some guns there. I said, 'no, no we haven't no guns except my twenty-two rifle.' He take my rifle, then he break open the trunk with an ax. I say, 'no, no, you can't do that.' He say, 'shut up. We're soldiers and we can do anything we want to. I'll shoot your head off.'"

"Then he take mother's clothes and shake them. Her pocketbook fall out and he grab it up. He can't get it open, so he just tear it open. He take out the $200 and pull his whiskey bottle out his back pocket and put the money in and then put the bottle in on top of it."

The boy said the man he called a soldier then began abusing the children. "He kick my sister in the nose and it bleed," he declared. "He kick my baby brother, 1½ years old, in the back. Kick me? Oh, yes, he kick me in the ribs."

CUT OUT COUPON BELOW—WORTH TWENTY-FIVE CENTS TO YOU

Good. At Druggists Below, as Long as the Free Supply Lasts, for One 25-Cent Package of the New "External" Treatment That Relieves Colds Over Night—Croup in Fifteen Minutes.

Vicks Croup and Pneumonia Salve, the new treatment recently introduced here from North Carolina, relieves croup and cold troubles by external application. There is no need to dose the stomach with injurious medicines.

Its use is especially recommended to mothers with small children, as Vicks can be used freely and often without disturbing the delicate stomachs of the little folks. Plenty of fresh air in the bedroom and a little Vicks applied at the first sign of trouble will insure the children against croup and pneumonia and keep them free from head and chest colds, sore throat, etc. Vicks is absolutely harmless—formula on every wrapper.

For all inflammations of the air passages, bronchitis, tonsillitis, catarrh, hoarseness, difficult breathing, etc., this new treatment will be found remarkably effective.

Applied externally over the throat and chest, the heat of the body releases soothing, antiseptic vapors, that are inhaled with each breath. At the same time Vicks is absorbed through the skin, taking out the soreness and tightness. In very severe cases the pores of the skin are first opened by applications of hot wet towels. Then Vicks is rubbed in well and covered with a warm flannel cloth. The covering around the neck is kept loose so that the vapor arising may be freely inhaled. No one understands the value of an "external" treatment better than the skilled druggist, and a number of Ohio county druggists have made arrangements to give away 25-cent packages free to their customers upon receipt of the coupon below. The free supply with each dealer is limited, but if you come too late for a free package you can purchase a 25c, 50c or $1.00 jar on 30 days' trial.
